Commentary

- With an increased focus on globalisation, a number of female employees leaving from senior roles in the UK have been replaced in other countries. This has unfortunately widened our gender pay gap, compared to last year.
- However, we are proud that our continued focus on flexible working, including increased home working prompted by the Covid-19 pandemic, has enabled us to support and retain women in the upper middle quartile in particular. This flexibility of course also benefits male colleagues, and we encourage flexibility around childcare in particular for all employees.
- The significant difference between mean and median gender bonus gaps reflects a largely male sales team and the higher proportion of male senior managers who have continued to be based in the UK.
